Standard for Calltakers when Handling Calls Pertaining to Missing and Sexually Exploited Children

APCO American National Standards (ANS) are voluntary consensus standards. Use of any APCO standard is voluntary. This standard does not imply that there are no other guides for calltakers when handling calls pertaining to missing and sexually exploited children. All standards are subject to change. APCO ANS are required to be reviewed no later than every five years. The designation of an APCO standard should be reviewed to ensure you have the latest edition of an APCO standard, for example:

APCO ANS 1.101.1-2007 = 1 - Operations, 2 - Technical, 3 - Training

APCO ANS 1.101.1-2007 = Unique number identifying the standard

APCO ANS 1.101.1-2007 = The edition of the standard, which will increase after each revision

APCO ANS 1.101.1-2007 = The year the standard was approved and published, which may change after each revision.

The latest edition of an APCO standard cancels and replaces older versions of the APCO standard. Comments regarding APCO standards are accepted any time and can be submitted to apcostandards@apco911.org, if the comment includes a recommended change, it is requested to accompany the change with supporting material. If you have a question regarding any portion of the standard, including interpretation, APCO will respond to your request following its policies and procedures. ANSI does not interpret APCO standards, they will forward the request to APCO.

APCO International adheres to ANSI's Patent Policy. Neither APCO nor ANSI is responsible for identifying patents for which a license may be required by an American National Standard or for conducting inquiries into the legal validity or scope of any patents brought to their attention. No position is taken with respect to the existence or validity of any patent rights within this standard. Standard for Calltakers when Handling Calls Pertaining to Missing and Sexually Exploited Children

Overview

Reports of missing and/or sexually exploited children may be among the most difficult, challenging, and emotionally charged cases your agency will ever experience. The attitude and approach taken when responding to reports of missing and/or sexually exploited children may determine whether the child is recovered promptly and safely or remains missing in an exploitive environment. Each stage of the case, therefore, from initial call through successful recovery, forms a critical component of a thorough child-protection response. Often the initial call forms the foundation and direction of the response to that missing and/or sexually exploited child.

All agencies must provide its members with the tools and training enabling them to act quickly and decisively when confronted with reports of missing and/or sexually exploited children. The single most important tool an agency may provide is a clearly worded policy directive containing understandable procedures and best practices for calltakers to follow as a guide whenever a call for a missing and/or sexually exploited child is received.

In an effort to develop best-practice guidelines for handling calls pertaining to missing and/or sexually exploited children, a joint steering committee on Call Center Best Practices in Cases of Missing and Sexually Exploited Children was developed. Members of the committee include: The Association of Public-Safety Communications Officials (APCO), National Academies of Emergency Dispatch (NAED), National AMBER Alert Initiative (U.S. Department of Justice's Office of Justice Programs and Fox Valley Technical College), National Center for Missing and Exploited Children (NCMEC), and National Emergency Number Association (NENA).

Specific training and awareness about the overall issue of missing and/or sexually exploited children will help each calltaker understand the critical role he or she plays in this important area of child protection. This voluntary standard is designed to enhance training. Most calls pertaining to the sexual exploitation of children will fall into the two categories of intrafamilial and extrafamilial. These categories are explained in the "Child Sexual Exploitation" on page 26. In addition, calltakers should be aware they may encounter several types of missing-child cases, each with their own unique response requirements. They include:

- A. Nonfamily Abduction involves a child who has been wrongfully taken by a nonfamily perpetrator through the use of physical force, persuasion, or threat of bodily harm.
- B. Family Abduction occurs when, in violation of a custody order, a decree, or other legitimate custodial rights, a member of the child's family, or someone acting on behalf of a family member, takes or fails to return a child. This is also referred to as parental kidnapping and custodial interference.

Standard for Calltakers when Handling Calls Pertaining to Missing and Sexually Exploited Children

- C. The Runaway child, often a teenager, leaves home voluntarily for a variety of reasons. This would include any child 17 years of age or younger.
- D. The Throwaway is a child whose caretaker makes no effort to recover the child after running away, who has been abandoned or deserted, or who has been asked to leave his or her home and not allowed to return. While not necessarily reported to authorities as missing, children in this category frequently come to the attention of law enforcement.
- E. The Lost, Injured, or Otherwise Missing child is defined as a child who has disappeared under unknown circumstances. The incident may range from the child wandering off and becoming lost to the child being abducted, but nobody witnessed the act. These circumstances sometimes involve “foul play,” where those reporting the incident are attempting to cover-up a crime involving the child.

It should be noted not all missing-child incidents occurring each year in this country result in a direct law-enforcement response. Many incidents are resolved by parents/guardians, relatives, friends, or neighbors while others are resolved before a report is able to be made, such as the child escapes or returns home. This is a clear indication that law enforcement is usually called upon to handle the most serious reports involving missing or sexually exploited children – the difficult cases requiring decisive action and a carefully planned response.

When developing best practices or policy and procedures regarding cases involving missing or sexually exploited children it is essential that each response, regardless of what the initial indicators may be, should be governed by an assumption that the child is in danger until significant facts to the contrary are confirmed. Inflexible, unqualified assumptions may place a child in danger, therefore, immediate action is warranted. Immediate response will be more likely to accumulate evidence or information that might otherwise be lost during the critical, early stages of an investigation.

Standard for Calltakers when Handling Calls Pertaining to Missing and Sexually Exploited Children

Using this Standard

This Model Policy and voluntary standard has been designed to serve as a general reference specifically for calltakers. It attempts to present the missing and/or sexually exploited child response process in a logical progression from the initial call through the first response.

From the basic outline presented in this model, calltakers and administrators are encouraged to add topics unique to their agency or region of the country and incorporate actions mandated by federal, state, or local statutes. Finally this guide should be used in concert with the NCMEC publication titled Missing and Abducted Children: A Law-Enforcement Guide to Case Investigation and Program Management or equivalent. That publication contains chapters covering each type of missing-child case and provides individual checklists offering step-by-step recommendations for successful case investigation. A free copy of the publication is available by calling 1-800-THE-LOST® (1-800-843-5678) or visiting www.missingkids.com.

Pre-Incident Planning and Resource Development

Along with this policy and voluntary standard, pre-incident planning and resource development are equally important to the formation of an effective response to reports of missing and/or sexually exploited children. When these factors are given equal emphasis, a truly comprehensive response plan will result.

When any agency responds to the report of a missing and/or sexually exploited child without a plan critical time is lost and opportunities are wasted. By adopting planned strategies your agency will be able to exercise more control over events, react more effectively and predictably to unexpected occurrences, and enhance the likelihood of swift and successful case resolution. In each case, considerations should be given to contact your missing-children clearinghouse.

I. Policy Purpose

Describe the objective(s) of this policy.

Whenever a child is believed to be in danger individuals are instructed to call 911. Recognizing the importance of that initial call, the purpose of this policy is to establish best-practice guidelines and responsibilities regarding this agency's response to reports of missing and/or sexually exploited children.

II. Policy Statement

Describe the Agency's intent or philosophy regarding this policy.

- A. It shall be the policy of this Agency to take immediate and necessary action for all reports of missing and/or sexually exploited children. Additionally this Agency holds that every child reported as missing and/or sexually exploited will be considered “at risk” until significant information to the contrary is confirmed.

Standard for Calltakers when Handling Calls Pertaining to Missing and Sexually Exploited Children

- B. Jurisdictional conflicts are to be avoided when a child is reported missing and/or sexually exploited. If a missing or sexually exploited child either resides in, or was last seen in this jurisdiction, this Agency will immediately initiate the required reporting process. If a child resides in this jurisdiction and was last seen in another jurisdiction, but the law-enforcement agency covering that jurisdiction chooses not to take a missing-child report, this agency will assume reporting and investigative responsibility to include working closely with law enforcement whose jurisdiction the child was last seen.
- C. Questions concerning parental custody occasionally arise in relation to missing-child reports. It shall be the policy of this agency to accept the report of a missing child even if custody has not been formally established. Reporting parties shall be encouraged to obtain legal custody as soon as possible; however, since the safety of the missing-child(ren) is paramount, members of this agency will open a case when it may be shown the child has been removed, without explanation, from his or her usual place of residence.

III. Procedures

A. Basic Assumptions

1. The calltaker will gather enough information to determine an appropriate response consistent with agency policy pertaining to the missing and/or sexually exploited child incident.
2. The focus of the calltaker should not be whether or not the case will qualify for an AMBER Alert. The AMBER Alert Program does not supersede nor in any way replace the core functions of law enforcement operational and investigative response.
3. The calltaker is trained and qualified to recognize basic call-handling and intake policies within his or her agency.

B. Guiding Principles and Values

1. Professionalism
2. Compassion
3. Respect
4. Patience
5. Commitment to Accuracy and Detail
6. Commitment to follow-through and accountability (Quality Assurance)

C. Goals for Initial Intake

1. Obtain and verify incident location along with callback and contact information.
2. Maintain control of the call.
3. Communicate the ability to help the caller.
4. Methodically and strategically obtain information through systematic inquiry to be captured in the agency's intake format.
5. Recognize the potential urgency of the missing-child incident and immediately begin the proper notifications consistent with agency policy.
6. Perform all information entries and disseminations, both initial and update. This includes mandatory entry of information about the missing child into the Federal Bureau of Investigation's (FBI) National Crime Information Center's (NCIC) databases accurately, including vehicle if known.

D. Instructions

1. The following protocol is intended as a solid framework for call intake but should not in any manner rescind or override agency procedures for the timing of broadcasts and messaging.
2. All information should be simultaneously entered, as it is obtained by the telecommunicator, into an electronic format when available, that will feed/populate any directed messages which will be sent to law enforcement in conjunction with on-air broadcasts.
3. Preferably, when an AMBER Alert request for activation intake form is used, this initial entry should be set-up to automatically populate that format as well to avoid double entry.
4. The checklist noted below shall be used to help ensure the appropriate information is obtained. The calltaker should feel free to obtain additional information as needed.

Additional Considerations

A. Most departments cannot “do it all” when faced with an emergency response to the abduction of a child. Child Abduction Response Plans, action plans, interagency agreements, and Incident Command Management Programs should be developed so law enforcement at the scene will have access to a well-established and reliable framework of resources and assistance. Available resources, such as the ones noted below, must be researched before the incident, not during.

1. CAD searches for any information regarding that area such as lewdness, attempted abductions, and suspicious persons. Alert responding appropriate law enforcement of results.
2. Consider requests for incident command and mutual aid.
3. Consider establishing tactical perimeter posts if no immediate field command exists.
4. Consider local, county, regional, and statewide broadcast as appropriate.
5. Consider establishing a dedicated frequency and dispatcher for the incident.
6. Initiate immediate leads/case-management system.
 - Simple Leads Management System may be obtained from NCMEC free-of-charge by contacting NCMEC’s Case Management Support at 1-800-THE-LOST (1-800-843-5678).
7. Coordinate resource deployment for field units such as air support and search dogs including the National Association of Search and Rescue (NASAR) and Urban Search and Rescue (USAR).
8. Request staging area from Incident Commander to be conveyed to responding law enforcement.
9. If photograph is obtained from responding law enforcement consider creating posters.
 - NCMEC has circulated millions of photographs of missing children recovering 1 in 6 children as a direct result of being featured in NCMEC’s photo-distribution program.
 - LOCATER™ is a free, Web-based, poster-creation and distribution program provided by NCMEC. For more information regarding LOCATER visit www.locaterposters.org.

B. Resources which should be used, and for which contact information should be readily available and organized within your communications center should include, but not be limited to:

1. Federal law-enforcement agencies such as the FBI and U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE)
2. National Center for Missing & Exploited Children at 1-800-THE LOST (1-800-843-5678)
 - Resource publications may be found at www.missingkids.com

3. Sex-offender tracking/mapping, attempted-abduction tracking/mapping, and public-record database searches may be obtained by contacting NCMEC's Case Analysis and Support Division at 1-800-THE-LOST (1-800-843-5678)
 4. CART (Child Abduction Response Teams)
 5. CAD System
 6. Law Enforcement Terminal Data System
 7. National Crime Information Center (NCIC) Databases
 8. National Law Enforcement Telecommunications System (NLETS)

 15. Global Positioning Systems (GPS)
 16. Night vision equipment
 17. Scanning equipment for photographs and documents
 18. Digital camera equipment
 19. Mobile incident command post vehicle
 20. Telephone bank resources/infrastructure
 21. Logging recording system
 22. Instant call capture and retrieval system or Automatic Number Identification (ANI)
 23. Additional staffing
 24. Consider logistics
- C. If your agency serves as the control point for development and dissemination of messaging and broadcasts directly related to the issuance of the AMBER Alert, additional significant procedures will apply.
1. Complete Broadcast and Messaging Follow-Up
 - a) Complete all documentation as defined by agency policy and technology.
 - b) Help ensure all agency and state (and/or regional) personnel involved in the AMBER Alert Approval and Activation Process have been notified and supplied with all appropriate information.

Standard for Calltakers when Handling Calls Pertaining to Missing and Sexually Exploited Children

- c) Establish/activate dedicated communication line for incident updates from law-enforcement personnel.
 - As updates are received make all appropriate broadcasts/re-broadcasts.
 - As updates are received develop and disseminate all appropriate electronic messaging.
- 2. Management of Leads/Tips
 - a) Establish workload and lines of responsibility for taking calls regarding the abduction. If necessary, call in additional staff members and supervision.
 - b) Capture leads/tips in order to effectively present them to investigative staff members and supervisors for determination of validity and subsequent update broadcasts. Consider using leads/case-management software to accomplish this.
- 3. If AMBER Alert is Activated
 - a) Update state, law-enforcement telecommunications system and NCIC record with the “AA” flag to indicate activation of an AMBER Alert.
 - b) Help ensure contact with the NCMEC is made. When the proper flags, “CA” and “AA” are used in NCIC, NCMEC will contact your agency. Help ensure contact is properly routed if your communications center is not responsible for interaction with NCMEC. The FBI is automatically notified as well.
 - c) NCMEC may be reached at 1-800-THE-LOST (1-800-843-5678).
- 4. When AMBER Alert is Cancelled
 - a) Please note in an effort to protect the integrity of the AMBER Alert Program, responsible cancellation without delay is just as important. If the public is searching for children who have already been recovered confidence in this extremely valuable program will be lost.
 - b) Please be sure to alert everyone about the cancellation using the methods employed to issue the alert.

Child Sexual Exploitation

A CyberTipline® report at the NCMEC is a report regarding the sexual exploitation of a child. For more information regarding the CyberTipline visit www.cybertipline.com.

Definitions of Child Sexual Exploitation Classifications on the Cybertipline

These definitions may vary from your state's definitions.

- Possession, Manufacture, and Distribution of Child Pornography—Child pornography has been defined under federal statute as a visual depiction of a minor (child younger than 18) engaged in sexually explicit conduct (18 U.S.C. 2256).
- Online Enticement of Children for Sexual Acts— Use of the Internet to entice, invite, or persuade a child to meet for sexual acts, or to help arrange such a meeting, is a serious offense (18 U.S.C. 2425).
- Prostitution of Children— Prostitution is generally defined as performing, offering, or agreeing to perform a sexual act for any money, property, token, object, article, or anything of value (18 U.S.C. 2431, 2423(a)).
- Sex Tourism Involving Children—It is against the law for any United States citizen to travel abroad to engage in sexual activity with any child under the age of 18 (18 U.S.C. 2423(b)). Individuals who partake in this illegal activity are subject to prosecution in the United States even if they committed the crime on foreign soil.
- Child Sexual Molestation (not in the family) - Child sexual exploitation (not in the family), also known as extrafamilial child sexual abuse, includes all sexual exploitation of a child by someone other than a family member.
- Unsolicited Obscene Material Sent to a Child—It is an unfortunate reality of the Internet that children will encounter obscene material online. Many times this material is attached as an image(s) or hyperlink(s) sent to a child in an unsolicited e-mail or “spam.”
- Misleading Domain Name—It is a federal offense to use a misleading domain name on the Internet with the intent to deceive a minor into viewing material that is harmful to minors, regardless of whether the material meets the legal definition of obscenity (18 U.S.C. 2252B). Please report the use of a misleading domain name that has directed a child to a website containing harmful materials to children.

Standard for Calltakers when Handling Calls Pertaining to Missing and Sexually Exploited Children

Extrafamilial Versus Intrafamilial Sexual Abuse/ Exploitation

Extrafamilial sexual exploitation involves a nonfamily member. Intrafamilial sexual exploitation is sexual abuse by a family member. A family member is defined as a person who is related by blood or marriage. Traditional cases of intrafamilial sexual abuse are not covered by NCMEC; however, non-traditional incest cases are covered, as well as all extrafamilial cases.

Examples of non-traditional incest cases may include the offender:

- Abusing or exploiting other children in addition to his or her own children
- Taking pictures of his or her own children or others in sexual situations
- Prostituting his or her child

Most law-enforcement agencies are mandated by law to notify their child-protective-services agency and/or prosecutor's office (district attorney's office) of any intrafamilial abuse. This protocol needs to be established before a call is received. When a traditional incest case by a family member is encountered other organizations may be considered, but should not be limited to include:

Electronic Service Providers

Electronic Service Providers (ESP) are required to report to the CyberTipline in accordance with Title 42 U.S.C. Whomever provides an electronic communication service or a remote computing service to the public through a facility or means of interstate or foreign commerce is required to report. After Title 42 U.S.C. 13032 was passed in 1999, NCMEC created a secure CyberTipline specifically for ESPs. This secure site requires the ESP to register in order to obtain a username and password. Once registered an ESP may begin to report to the secure CyberTipline. Only registered ESPs have the ability to upload images of possible child pornography to the report. Only registered ESPs receive a receipt for complying with Title 42 U.S.C. 13032 when they submit a report.

What Can NCMEC Do For You?¹

EXPLOITED CHILD SERVICES

IDENTIFICATION OF CHILD VICTIMS

NCMEC's Child Victim Identification Program (CVIP) serves two main functions. First, the CVIP Analysts work to assist law enforcement in identifying unknown child victims featured in pornographic images using Image Analysis. Image Analysis is the process of documenting "clues" within the images that may reveal the location of the child victim(s) and/or information about where the crime was committed. Once a possible location is identified, law enforcement is contacted and a localized search for the child victim/perpetrator is launched. Second, CVIP Analysts help ensure convictions for the possession, production, and distribution of these illegal images are obtained using NCMEC's Child Recognition & Identification System (CRIS). CRIS automatically recognizes which images contain identified child victims and generates a report detailing information about the law-enforcement agency handling that case and providing age verification for each of the identified child victims. CVIP has developed an evidence guide, containing text descriptions, identifiers, and a list of partial filenames for child-pornography series featuring identified victims.

ONLINE REPORTING OF CHILD SEXUAL EXPLOITATION

The CyberTipline, at www.cybertipline.com, allows concerned individuals and Electronic Service Providers to report information online regarding the possession, manufacture, and distribution of child pornography; online enticement of children for sexual acts; child victims of prostitution; sex tourism involving child victims; extrafamilial molestation of children; unsolicited obscene material sent to children; and misleading domain names. The CyberTipline also maintains a contact list for many major Electronic Service Providers in the United States.

SEXUAL EXPLOITATION PREVENTION

NCMEC's Exploited Child Division (ECD) serves as a resource center for the public, families, law enforcement, and others regarding issues of sexual exploitation of children. ECD Analysts process CyberTipline reports; disseminate leads; and provide technical assistance to federal, state, local, and international law-enforcement agencies investigating cases involving the sexual exploitation of children. In addition ECD hosts NetSmartz411™, a free resource in which anyone online is able to access an extensive library to search for information related to online safety and ask specific questions of NCMEC experts.

MISSING CHILDREN SERVICES

CALLS FOR SERVICE REGARDING MISSING AND EXPLOITED CHILDREN

NCMEC's Call Center receives toll-free calls from many countries throughout the world via a 24-hour, toll-free Hotline at 1-800-THE-LOST (1-800-843-5678); handles lead/sighting information received from the public via the toll-free Hotline and "voice-over" calls received through NCMEC's website; provides assistance to professionals and families in the search for missing children and attempt to assist sexually exploited children; handles requests from families with travel-reunification needs; assists hearing-impaired callers and coordinates access to communicate with callers in 140 different languages; provides direct after-hours assistance to law enforcement; and provides safety information to help prevent the abduction and sexual exploitation of children. The NCMEC Call Center also manages the Child Pornography Tipline® on behalf of ICE, the U.S. Postal Inspection Service, and the FBI.

ASSISTANCE IN INTERNATIONAL MISSING-CHILDREN CASES

NCMEC's International Missing Children's Division assists families, law enforcement, attorneys, and others in locating, recovering, and reunifying children who are the victims of international, family abduction. This division also provides technical assistance regarding prevention, civil and criminal legal remedies for abduction, and family reunification. The legal and factual complexities of international, family-abduction cases present a series of investigative and legal hurdles requiring international family law expertise. NCMEC has recruited a network of pro-bono attorneys who volunteer their time to represent left-behind parents of children wrongfully removed from or retained in the United States.

ASSISTANCE IN NATIONAL MISSING-CHILDREN CASES

Staff members within the National Missing Children's Division work with families of missing and abducted children and the investigating law-enforcement agencies to provide technical assistance and all available search resources. Staff members also maintain up-to-date case information and regular contact with families and investigative agencies.

Many services are provided within the National Missing Children's Division. They include those listed below:

- Forensic Assistance

- ◊ NCMEC provides support and resources to the “cold” cases of long-term missing children and cases of unidentified human remains to victims believed to be children or young adults through the Forensic Assistance Unit. This Unit also provides strategies for and assistance to law enforcement and medical examiners/coroners in cases of child homicides and identification. CASE ANALYSIS

CASE SUPPORT AND INFORMATION ANALYSIS

Analysts assigned to the Case Analysis Unit (CAU) provide research and analytical support to NCMEC Case Managers working both domestic and international, missing-child cases. One of the primary responsibilities of the CAU is to assess new leads regarding missing-child cases and add value to the information by providing the most current and relevant information possible to law enforcement. By using the NCMEC database and external, public-data sources, Analysts track leads, identify patterns among cases, and help coordinate investigations by linking cases together.

ATTEMPTED ABDUCTION AND SEX OFFENDER TRACKING

NCMEC’s Special Analysis Unit (SAU) is comprised of three analyst teams including Sex Offender Tracking, Attempted Abductions, and Research. The main duty of NCMEC’s Sex Offender Tracking Team (SOTT) is to serve as the information clearinghouse for any law-enforcement agency regarding noncompliant, absconded sex-offender issues. SOTT will conduct searches to assist law-enforcement agencies and state registries in their investigations of noncompliant, absconded sex offenders and provide them with lead packages to assist in the location and apprehension of these fugitives. The SAU also consists of Attempted Abduction Analysts who verify attempted abductions reported in the media and to NCMEC, analyze the data received for trends and patterns among the incidents, and prepare and disseminate special bulletins when necessary to alert NCMEC staff members and law enforcement of any emerging abduction patterns. The Attempted Abductions team also compiles a weekly summary, which is made available to law-enforcement agencies nationwide, in hopes of generating leads and identifying similarities among cases. Research Analysts collect and analyze data about child abduction and sexual exploitation to develop a broader body of knowledge about specific cases and national trends. Quantitative and qualitative reports are produced for use by internal staff members and law enforcement. These reports also assist in the development of data-driven prevention strategies.

The Division coordinates the Office of Victims of Crime grant-funded Victim Reunification Travel program assisting in the return of children from other countries who are victims of international abduction. The Division's team also triages cases of extrafamilial child exploitation upon request of the family and/or law enforcement and provides appropriate referrals, support, and case follow-up. The Division manages the Family Advocacy Outreach Network, a group of licensed mental-health professionals who provide local, brief therapeutic intervention to families, as well as long-term support when indicated. The Division also manages Team HOPE, a peer-support program for families of missing children.
